

Birth Chart Intelligence

A personal chart, a structured reading, a place to reflect.

Reference calculation: 1 January 2000, 12:00 UTC · 0° N, 0° E · Tropical zodiac · Whole-sign houses.

This three-page design preview uses a fictional reference, not a customer's chart. It shows the chart style, report structure and workbook format. It does not contain a full personal interpretation.

Your chart, kept together

The paid edition preserves the expanded reading already attached to your saved Birth Chart. It does not promise extra predictions or a consultation.

Included	What you receive
Your chart	A chart wheel based on the exact saved calculation.
Your core pattern	Sun, Moon and Ascendant, followed by the classical chart ruler.
Planet placements	All ten planets with sign and whole-sign house context.
Selected connections	Up to five eligible recorded aspects, where present.
Synthesis	The themes of the saved expanded reading, brought together.
Reflection workbook	Questions and space for your own observations.
Verification	A version reference linking the report to the saved chart.

Reference facts in this sample

Sun: Capricorn · Moon: Scorpio · Ascendant: Aries.

These are computed reference positions. They describe neither you nor a real customer's result. Modern symbolic interpretation remains separate from calculation.

Make room for your own reading

A symbolic description is a starting point for reflection. Compare it with your experience and keep what is useful.

What would you like to understand?

Which theme feels familiar, and where does it differ?

What small observation could you make this week?

Your next step

Calculate a Birth Chart, save the expanded reading to your account and review the available PDF offer. Pay once through Stripe; after confirmation, follow preparation in your account and download the completed report.

The current edition is ANCIENTIQ EXPERIMENTAL. No verified Sepharial or Papus attribution is claimed. Later library changes do not rewrite a purchased edition.
